CORE PRINCIPLES

PATRIMONIVM EDITOR

CORE PRINCIPLES

- App writes and reads XML/TEI files
- Front-end interface can be customized to display specific elements of a TEI document
- Editing an element is done through user-friendly input fields, dropdown lists or other widgets
- App comes with tools dedicated to text encoding and metadata enrichment

Web application interface

CREATION OF A DOCUMENT

Creation from template

- Creation of a document is based on a template
- templates are TEI files with minimal TEI/Epidoc elements
- Templates are customizable to meet a project needs

Creation from external resource (beta)

- It is planned to make possible direct import from external resources, when XML/TEI files are available
- Implemented for EDH

How elements are displayed?

Definition of the required elements

- XML elements are defined in an XML file and called within the editor itself
- Definitions and display of element can be customized to meet project's needs
  - An element is/can be defined with:
    - Nickname
    - XPath, i.e. place of the element in the TEI file
(`/tei:teiHeader/tei:profileDesc/tei:textClass/tei:keywords/tei:term/@ref`)
    - Content type (node only; node and attribute ; attribute)
    - Cardinality
    - Label
    - Indication of a thesaurus if required

Definition of an XML

```
<teiElement>
  <nm>docKeywords</nm>
  <xpath>/tei:teiHeader/tei:profileDesc/tei:textClass/tei:keywords/tei:term/@ref</xpath>
  <contentType>textNodeAndAttribute</contentType>

</teiElement>
```

Function's call in 'document-editor.xql':

```
{ teiEditor:displayElement('docKeywords', (), (), () ) }
```

How elements are displayed?

Displaying XML elements at the required place

Elements are called in a XQuery file that builds the HTML front-end

➔ can be customized to meet project's needs

```

```

```
{teiEditor:displayElement('docTitle', (), (), ())}
{teiEditor:displayElement('editionDesc', (), (), ())}
